Italian Mobilization Is Speeded as Troops Sail To Join Forces in Africa

Black Shirt Divisions Have Been Increased From 12,000 to 15,000 Men; New Division Is To Sail Soon.

BORDER INCIDENTS

Conciliation Commission in Netherlands Said to be Discussing Only Minor Angles of Dispute.

Rome, July 8 (AP)—Italy stepped up concentration of troops for action in East Africa today, and some observers predicted warfare between Italy and Ethiopia before the rainy season ends in September.

The blackshirt divisions, it was disclosed, have been increased in strength—from 12,000 to 15,000 men. Four divisions have been completed and another is to be ready soon.

More than 3,000 soldiers and officers are en route to Africa on three ships that sailed over the weekend. Other transports are ready at their docks, awaiting only the arrival of volunteer battalions.

Although most observers held that hostilities could not begin before the heavy rains let up in September, some expressed a belief that the controversy was developing so rapidly that it would come to a head sooner.

Italian newspapers displayed prominently dispatches asserting France had refused to back Great Britain in its effort to avert war through the League of Nations.

The conciliation commission, meeting at Scheveningen, the Netherlands, was considered to be discussing only border incidents—minor elements in the controversy.

The commission attempting to settle the differences between Italy and Ethiopia was reported to have encountered a deadlock that threatened to break up the meetings. The rift arose from the demands of Italian members that eye-witnesses of border incidents be brought to Scheveningen by airplane to testify. Authoritative sources said British opposition has strengthened Italian public opinion behind Il Duce's East African campaign and that Italy is determined to proceed, regardless of what England does.

The United States' action, on the other hand, in refusing in effect to act under the Kellogg-Briand pact to avert hostilities, was termed more diplomatic.

Missionaries In Danger
Nanking, China, July 8 (AP)—Three separate groups of American missionaries were reported in grave danger tonight as the Yangtze swept over the dikes protecting Shasi, an important port in southern Hupeh province. The mission groups are representatives of the American Episcopal Church Mission, with headquarters in New York, the Covenant Mission Society, with headquarters at Chicago, and the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, with headquarters at St. Louis.

Soldiers For England.

Vancouver, July 8 (AP)—Lady Sylvia Ashley today was en route to Quebec City where she plans to embark on the Empress of Britain next Friday for England. She was accompanied by her maid. Half an hour after Lady Ashley's departure late Sunday night, Douglas Fairbanks boarded a plane for Seattle, on his way to Hollywood. Fairbanks, before leaving, said he expected to finish his business in the California city in a few days, then go to New York. His plane after that were indefinite.

Wheat Adjustment Payments.
Washington, July 8 (AP)—A proclamation by Secretary Wallace today established the minimum 1935 wheat adjustment payments at at least $3 cents a bushel compared to the 1934 minimum of 22 cents. Payments for both years, the AAA said, are subject to slight deductions for county administration costs. Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator, said the increase of four cents a bushel for the 1935 allotments represents additional money to cooperating wheat producers of approximately $14,000,000.

James Julian Miller, 25, of 462 Sheffield Avenue, Brooklyn, was drowned yesterday at the resort miles from here. A visitor at the summer colony he went in bathing yesterday morning, at first in the water. He was missed soon afterward but it was thought he had gone away with friends.

Red Cross on the Job.

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The American Red Cross, with most of its disaster staff in midwestern flood areas, said today office workers would be ordered from their desks in Washington to the flooded region of New York state. It reports indicate the necessity for such action. The national headquarters said it had ordered Harold Norman, its district representative in Schenectady, N. Y., make an immediate report on the status of workers needed.

Breaks In Water Line May Now Cause Water Shortage In Kingston

Superintendent Darrow Says Water Consumption in Kingston Must Be Cut to a Minimum as the Condition is Serious—Little Hope of Finding Breaks Until Rain Stops and Sawkill Creek Recedes.

Commissioners Declare Situation Is Serious

Two severe breaks in the water line that supplies Kingston threaten to cause a water shortage, despite the heavy rains of Sunday and today, if they are not discovered presently.

This was announced by Henry D. Darrow, superintendent of the board of water supply this morning. With it he made a request for conservation of water.

"Water consumption in Kingston must be cut to a minimum as the condition is serious," the statement says. "All hose sprinkling is prohibited until further notice and use of water for other purposes must be at the lowest possible consumption."

The cooperation of all our consumers is urgently needed.

Poughkeepsie Man Held in White Plains For Burglary Tours

White Plains, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—Charges of kidnapping and unlawful possession of a dangerous weapon today held Raymond A. Alverson, 32-year-old Poughkeepsie auditor, for the grand jury following his alleged abduction of a White Plains man and his wife to conduct him on a tour of homes to burglarize and nearby taverns.

In city court, after confessing to North Castle town policemen, who captured him at gun point in an Armonk inn Saturday night, Alverson today waived examination and was held by City Judge Francis R. Doherty for the action of the grand jury.

Before arrival at the inn with his captives, Alverson is accused of forcing them to drive him through this city and Hartsdale while he admittedly hunted for homes to burglarize, according to the prisoner's confession to his captors. Patrolmen John A. Hergenhan and Gerald Hendricks, Alverson admits to a record of petty crimes in Poughkeepsie.

An authoritative source said British opposition has strengthened Italian public opinion behind Il Duce's East African campaign and that Italy is determined to proceed, regardless of what England does.

The United States' action, on the other hand, in refusing in effect to act under the Kellogg-Briand pact to avert hostilities, was termed more diplomatic.

Friends and Foes Align In Battle Over Roosevelt Power Program Today

Vote on Utilities Control Is Expected Tuesday in the Senate; Lobbying Investigation Plan Nears Decision.

TVA DEBATING

Rankin May Be Invited to Elaborate About "Wire Tapping" on His Own Telephone Line.

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Friends and foes of the Roosevelt power program came to grips again today, opening another week of desperate fighting on an issue laden with potential significance for the 1936 campaign.

These were the varied developments as the powerful forces began their struggle anew:

The senate met to face a decision on the "death sentence" for public utility holding companies.

The house plunged into debate on amendments to the Tennessee Valley Authority law, thus approaching a new test of the president's control over congress.

The house rules committee was called into session to organize its inquiry into lobbying, pro and con, on the utilities bill.

The senate neared a decision on a plan for a $150,000 investigation, with Senator Clark (D-Mo.) urging that it be applied to lobbying in all fields, not merely in connection with the power fight.

A question before the senate was whether to accept a milder utilities control measure passed by the house against President Roosevelt's wishes, or stick by a bill containing the "death sentence," already approved by the senate.

The vote—which is not expected until tomorrow—will be close, in the opinion of enemies of the compulsory abolition of holding firms. Should the senate stick by its own bill—as Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) and other administration men predicted—the then the controversy would go to conference of senators and representatives. The lobbying inquiry by the house rules committee will go into general activities for and against the utility bill after delving into the specific charge by Representative Brewster (R-Me.) that Thomas Corcoran, RFC attorney and "brain trust" man, threatened to hold up the Passamaquoddy tidal power project in Maine if Brewster voted against the "death sentence."

Corcoran and Brewster were listed among the first witnesses. Corcoran's friends have denied he made the threat.

Representative Sabath (D-Ill.) of the rules committee, said he thought the inquiry also should include the American Liberty League "and such organizations that are continually flooding us with pamphlets and propaganda sniping at administration activity."

Rankin may be invited to elaborate about the "wire tapping" he said unidentified utilities people had indulged in even on his own telephone line.

The house ways and means committee was called together to open hearings on President Roosevelt's tax-the-wealth program. Secretary Morgenthau was asked to appear as a witness and from him legislators expected to get estimates on what various tax rates would produce in new revenues.

The house ways and means committee was called together to open hearings on President Roosevelt's tax-the-wealth program. Secretary Morgenthau was asked to appear as a witness and from him legislators expected to get estimates on what various tax rates would produce in new revenues.

During the week leaders in both houses will press for action on legislation blocking suits to recover any losses suffered by cancellation of the gold clauses in government securities. The Guffey coal bill and the federal alcohol control measure.

Downtown, officials disclosed that 4,000,000 "unemployables" were still on federal relief rolls. These people—aged, dependent child, insane and the like—are to be given into the care of local governments, the transfer originally ordered for last February 1, taking place probably around November 1.

Joseph Alyos Lyons, prime minister of Australia, arrived in the city to confer with President Roosevelt.

Elderly Couple Missing.
Bath, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—An elderly couple was missing after their home was swept away a mile from here today and at least 300 homes in Bath were evacuated as the Conchocton, Canisteo and Tioga rivers continued to rise in Steuben county, inundating thousands of acres of crops and destroying many cattle. Mr. and Mrs. John Shoemaker were unreported after their home was carried away by a racing torrent from a tributary of the Conchocton river, a mile west of Bath. Officials were unable to check homes of neighbors to determine if the Shoemakers were taking refuge with friends.

Cloudburst Struck the Southern Tier Area at Midnight and the Towns of Whitney Point, Lisle, Marathon and Hillside Were Reported Inundated Early Today.

The entire Tioga river valley was reported under water.

An eight foot wall of water rushed down Spradler creek at Rural Grove, Montezuma county, and four houses were washed away. A dozen persons were swept out of their homes.

Disastrous Flood Centers In Woodstock, 5 Rescued

8 Deaths, Millions of Dollars Loss Reported Over State Due to Deluge

Railroads, Highways, Power Lines Crippled; Homes,

Farm Properties Swept Along by Angry Waters—Terrific Thunder Storms Experienced and in Chenango County One Man Was Killed by Bolt of Lightning While Working in Barn—Broken Dams in Many Sections Cause Householders to Flee.

Albany, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—The torrential rains which swept eastern and central New York state during the week-end caused today, giving rise to hopes that swollen rivers and creeks would recede without adding to the damage of nearly two million dollars already done.

A state-wide survey showed the storm caused eight deaths, washed out a score of bridges and several railroad tracks, resulted in the collapse of three dams, drove numerous families from their homes, halted traffic on nearly all highways and suspended gas and electric service in Bath.

The heavy rainfall since Sunday afternoon, measuring more than 1.52 inches, caused damages that will run into many thousands of dollars for the state, county, Kingston City and private corporations.

Ulster county was visited by another disastrous flood Sunday with the center of damage apparently in the town of Woodstock. No lives were reported lost but this fact can be attributed to Gladys Wolstenholme, maid in the home of Mrs. Charles Edward Cooper at Woodstock, where Mrs. Cooper and her three small children were saved through the presence of mind of the maid.

In the town of Woodstock alone where the Sawkill creek went on a rampage following hours of heavy rain Sunday afternoon and evening, there are six bridges out and Supervisor Albert Cashdollar reported this morning after an all night survey that at least 3,000 feet of docking along the creek was washed away near the Vosburg property. The Sawkill creek at Shady overflowed the narrow valley and wrecked buildings, washed out highways and carried away cars and bridges so that the upper Shady valley was isolated today except to foot passengers or those who ventured over Lake Hill and came back past Cooper's Lake.

Between Bearsville and Shady 1,000 feet of highway was reported washed out and huge trees carried down by the torrent which roared down the narrow valley were piled high where the state highway formerly was.

Reports of rescues filtered in from the outlying section of the town of Woodstock and Shandaken and in several instances only quick work on the part of rescuers saved families. The lesson learned a couple of years ago when Ulster county's mountain section was visited by a disastrous flood was probably responsible for the fact that no lives were lost.

A Near Tragedy

Following an afternoon rain which continued into the night the Sawkill creek which flows down the narrow valley through Shady and back to Woodstock village continued to come up. The water rose to alarming proportions and about midnight was roaring over the iron bridge at the lower end of the village at the Woodstock Golf Club.

At Woodstock, local phone service was crippled by falling trees.

In Kingston 222 lines were put out of order, and 600 phones rendered useless. One hundred toll circuits were out of service.

Most of the damage was caused Sunday night.

To add to the distress of the telephone company this morning, a tanker from the Texaco oil company, endeavoring to move out of its berth in the Hudson river pulled up the Kingston-Rhinebeck cable as it hauled its anchor to sail.

Mayor Takes Command

City employees, under the personal direction of Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, went out Sunday afternoon to remedy conditions caused by flooded waters.

With Superintendent of Streets James Norton out of town, the mayor took command of the situation himself. In the Ponckhockie district considerable of his time was spent in checking on the Catherine street sewer, which overflowed and filled cellars.

The drainage problem on Catherine street will be studied by an engineer from the Emergency Relief Bureau and steps taken to prevent further floods.

City trucks were called out to clear the streets of tree branches that fell after being soaked by the rain, or were blown down by heavy winds. A falling limb damaged the car of Fred Schiske of 47 Hudson street as he was driving in front of 67 West Chestnut street. Schiske escaped injury.

Central Hudson officials reported little trouble in Kingston property but said there were two breaks in a main transmission line near Hone Falls. This caused the power to be shut off in Kerhonkson, Accord and other places in that vicinity. Ellenville was affected for a time but power was restored from another line. Men were sent out immediately to repair the

Captain Cook, Explorer,

Was Slain by Hawaiians

Capt. James Cook, English naval captain and explorer was born on October 28, 1728, at Cleveland in Yorkshire. In 1768 having become a mate on a commercial ship he joined the Royal navy. After four years' service he was appointed master of the sloop "Grampus." From 1770 to 1777 Cook surveyed the St. Lawrence and the coast of Newfoundland in the Philadelphia Record.

In 1778 he was sent to the Pacific with an expedition to observe the transit of Venus. Having observed the transit from Tahiti, he voyaged westward, completing the first circumnavigation of New Zealand, charting the coast. Passing on to Australia, he surveyed the east coast northwards and, sailing through the strait separating it from New Guinea, showed that these two lands were not connected.

The following year (1779) Cook received command of an expedition which was sent out to determine the extent of the reported southern continent. Sailing again to the south and east in January, 1779, Cook's second voyage covered more than 20,000 leagues, and was the first circumnavigation of the globe eastwards. Upon his return he was made a member of the Royal society and received the Copley medal.

In 1783 he started on his third and last voyage in an attempt to find the northwest passage. However, he was going to sail from the Pacific to the Atlantic, not from east to west as had the others. Of course he didn't accomplish this, but on turning back from Alaska, he discovered the Hawaiian Islands. Cook was slain by the natives there, on February 14, 1779.

"Shepherd of the Home,"

Name Earned by Collie

"The little shepherd of the home" is the name frequently given the attractive and gentle collie. It has well earned it, asserts Albert Stoll, Jr., in the Detroit News, for it is among the most affectionate and considerate of all canine friends, jealously guarding the lives and property of those it has learned to love.

The blood lines of the collie are ancient, dating back to man's first association with the breed. But during the past century two distinct types have been developed, the smooth-coated and the rough-coated. The latter undoubtedly is the more popular while the former is a distinct show breed.

While no standards have been set for coloring the most favored are black and tan, pure white and sable and white. It is essentially a working dog and in no sense can be placed in any other class. In weight it approximates 60 pounds and stands about 23 inches high at the shoulder.

The collie, like other dogs of more than medium size and abundant energy, must have plenty of exercise and confinement is quite likely to bring on illness. It should be given frequent runs and left to frolic with the children as it wills. The well-bred collie should cause no concern among parents as to its dependability with children. It is a natural guard and trustworthy.

"Beauty Chemistry" Old

Trick to the Egyptians

Grand ladies of the world's oldest civilization painted their faces green before attending the court functions. L. E. Warren, United States Department of Agriculture chemist, told a gathering of the American Chemical Society.

The Egyptian chemists appear to have mastered "beauty chemistry." The girls, declared the speaker, used ground malachite, a green copper ore, mixed with hippopotamus fat, to give their cheeks a "fresh grass" look. They also painted their eyebrows black with a mixture of mercury sulphide and antimony sulphide. This whitish and poisonous.

Egyptian priests, Warren said, possessed a stock of more than 200 different drugs for use as medicines and poisons, forty of which, 2,000 years later, are stocked by modern drug stores.

Despite Unrest In Islands

This group of typical Baguio miners at an entrance to one of the district's gold producers, includes Igorots, primitive tribesmen; Chinese, and Tagalogs, members of the most cultured of the Filipino races.

Baguio, Philippines (AP).—In the face of political uncertainties, Baguio, "de luxe" mining camp, is on the boom and expects to increase its gold and silver output 50 per cent in 1935.

A mile-high resort town, developed under the American regime, Baguio is center of the Philippine gold production which already rivals Alaska's and has been increasing steadily in recent years.

For Firemen

Members of the board of directors, the staff members and the retiring and newly elected officers of the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. will be on hand to greet those who attend the garden party at Joseph M. Fowler's on Wednesday evening. This party is given under the auspices of the Business and Professional Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. and the entire proceeds will be used for charitable purposes. The members of this club have always taken an active interest in social service work in this community, particularly at the Christmas season. They also contribute a substantial sum to the Y. W. C. A. fund. This year the girls have obligated themselves to do considerably more than in the past and this party is given to realize funds to carry on this good work. Those who have not already secured their tickets or made reservations are asked to do so as soon as possible as this will assist the committee very much in making final preparations. Miss Mary Howard is the general chairman of this party. In addition to the reception committee listed above, the following are serving as chairmen of different committees:

Miss Bertha Waterman, supplies. Mrs. Charles Terwilliger and Mrs. William Ellingson, refreshments. Miss Ruth Vandenberg, tickets. Miss Beatrice Powley, tallies, cards and score pads.

Miss Janet Phillips, Miss Ethel Skelton, tables.

The girls all report progress in their work and if the "weather man" will do his part, they are sure of a huge success. Should it be stormy, the party will be held in the gym of the Y. W. C. A., where arrangements can be made to make the guests most comfortable.

The members of the club are most grateful to Judge and Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler for the privilege of holding this affair in their attractive garden and under such ideal conditions.

Two Killed When Auto Hits Tree

Cornwall, N. Y., July 8 (AP).—Two persons lay dead today and two more were in a critical condition in a hospital after their car left the highway and crashed into a tree.

Mrs. Frances Nelson, 22, and Harold Kunes, 30, both of Cornwall, were killed instantly in the accident at Monterey, 10 miles north of here, at night.

George Nelson, husband of the lead woman, was hurt so badly he could not be examined. Mrs. Grace Kunes, wife of the other victim, suffered fractures of an arm and shoulder, as well as head injuries. Both were removed to a hospital in this city.

Efficiency of Fins Aid

Fish to Be So Graceful
The most conspicuous external organs of fishes are the fins. The fins are composed of non-scaled membranes supported by bony rods through the movement of which locomotion is accomplished. The high speed which most fishes are able to attain tells of the efficiency of the fins, the most powerful of which is the caudal fin.

The pectoral fins are located one on either side of the body and correspond to the hind legs of an animal, says a writer in the Washington Star. The uppermost fin is called the dorsal fin, and oftentimes is divided into two or even three parts, appearing to be distinct and not uncommonly termed "adipose fins." The remaining vertical member is known as the anal fin and, like the dorsal, may be composed of spines, rays and finlets. Great variations occur in shape, size, division, position and other features of the fins of different species, thereby offering characters which serve in a big measure for classification.

Organs common to higher animals are found in fishes. The ear, an internal chamber, lies near the brain, but it has no opening to the exterior. In it are otoliths, or ear stones, which function, apparently, in determining the equilibrium so necessary to fish life. It is highly probable that the ear shares with the lateral line the recording and interpretation of sound and water disturbances.

Nostrils are present, but the part they play in the fish make-up is not clearly understood. Though external openings are present, the nasal pits do not extend back to the throat, and no apparent assistance is rendered to respiration.

Pig Sticking, British Sport, Still in Fashion

Two very ancient and honorable sports, by no means extinct in this country, still attract visitors to the channel islands off the coast of southern California. "Pig sticking," that typically British pastime with its accompanying dangers-and-thrills, is an attraction to many American sportsmen. On Santa Cruz and Santa Rosa islands, lying about thirty miles west of Santa Barbara, there are still numbers of wild boars to be found, descendants of pigs originally brought to the isles by early Mexican and Basque settlers. These animals have an unusually ferocious nature and will charge a human being on sight. Consequently it is dangerous for a man to travel about either of these islands without a good rifle, especially if he is unmounted.

Santa Barbara island, 50 miles west of San Pedro, is a precipitous, rocky place, inhabited, observes a writer in the Washington Post, by herds of wild goats, which lure sportsmen who are fond of chasing their quarry in craggy surroundings. While not as dangerous as hunting the wild boar-goat-hunting requires steady nerves.

Home of Jersey Cow on English Channel Island

Jersey, homeland of the Jersey cow is a small island located in the English Channel just off the coast of France. The land slopes from an elevation of 400 feet on the north to sea level on the south, the climate is mild throughout the year and cattle are housed only a few days. Land holdings are small, agriculture intensive, and cows spend their days rather closely confined. As a result the island cow is docile, delicate in form and substance with slight muscle development and a bit thin at the heart, but uniform and beautiful. Bulls are more sturdy and aggressive.

The Jersey, with the Guernsey, is supposed to have originated from stocks of cattle common to Normandy and Brittany in France. The probable date of origin as a breed is not definitely known, but Jerseys have been maintained pure since 1780, when an enactment prohibited importation of live cattle for anything but slaughter purposes. Jerseys were first imported into the United States in 1850. Their color varies widely—from yellow to silver fawn, squirrel gray or perhaps black. White markings are occasionally found with these colors. No pure white cattle occur, and brindle marks are objectionable. bulls generally are darker than cows. Excepting the Jersey cattle, the Jersey is the smallest of the dairy breeds. Cows ordinarily weigh from 800 to 900 pounds, and bulls average 1,000 pounds. American cows attain greater body weight, perhaps averaging 1,000 pounds. In conformation the Jersey is lean and dairily muscular. The head is rather short and fine featured, broad between the eyes, with some dimples in the face. Horns of the males are short and strong, while those of the females are somewhat smaller, perhaps longer and more curved, in color white or amber with darker or black tips. Jerseys are bred primarily for butter production—Indianapolis News.

Treasury Wants to Borrow $500,000,000

Washington, July 8 (AP).—The treasury wants to borrow $500,000,000 and will pay 1½ per cent interest.

The securities offered for sale are four-year five-month notes maturing December 15, 1939. The proceeds, it is believed, will be used in part to finance the administration's work relief program.

In announcing the issue, Undersecretary Thomas Jefferson Coolidge, said:

"Our cash is low and this seemed a good market to get the money."

This is the first borrowing done by the government since the new fiscal year opened July 1. The amount sought is part of the $4,000,000,000 which must be obtained in new money if the administration spends the $8,520,000,000 budgeted by President Roosevelt for this year. Coolidge declined to say how much will be borrowed to finance the $4,880,000,000 work relief program drafted to give work to 3,500,000 unemployed.

"Our borrowing," he said, "will depend on how much they (the administration) spend."

He added no special significance should be attached to the new note issue. It represents the first large offering since last December, although there was a $738,000,000 refunding operation in June.

Broadcast Thursday

Thursday, at 12 o'clock noon, Station WGNY at Chester, will broadcast a radio program prepared by Bernard Joy, Ulster County 4-H Club agent. This program will tell of the activities and results of the Ulster county week-end camps.

"The type of government we have will be in proportion to the interest we take in it," says a congressman. And every group of us wishes some other group would take less interest in it.

CIVILIZING ABYSSINIA

The Italian government has taken another tack in explaining its Abyssinian policy. The boundary dispute having been shown up as a fake, and the fact growing steadily clearer that the Abyssinians are honestly defending their own country from unprovoked aggression, it is now explained in Rome that Italy feels called on to "civilize" Abyssinia for its own and the world's good.

Ancient Rome had that same mission, or assumed it had, and accordingly conquered and looted most of the accessible world. Incidentally it conferred some blessings of civilization on many backward countries. It also corrupted and destroyed many thriving, youthful nations. But for that, who knows what fine civilizations might have developed while the decadent Roman Empire was dragging everything down to ruin and preparing for the long night of the Dark Ages?

Abyssinia may be regarded as half-civilized. It has an ancient, honorable history. It has not made much progress in recent times, but is brave and free, professes Christianity, and represents the height of the black race in Africa. It seems capable of modern progress in its own right. Does the civilized world want it blotted out to help make a modern Roman Empire for Mussolini? There is plenty of room for Italy to expand elsewhere in Africa, if the other powers would loosen their grip on surplus territory.

GERMAN-JAP FRIENDSHIP

The German government is now cultivating the friendship of Japan. Nazi leaders have been going out of their way to pay compliments to the Japanese. German newspapers are giving more news space to Japan and calling for an "eastern League of Nations." Jap and German citizens are fraternizing. Seventy Japanese military officers are going to visit Germany to study German military institutions and methods.

This is fraternalism indeed. It is quite a reversal of the spirit aroused by Japanese seizure of the great German concessions and properties in Shantung during the World War. The Hitlerites apparently have forgotten that. It is also a startling innovation for the Hitler regime to let any foreign government study the present German military system. Everything lately has been concealment. It is surprising, too, for the Japs to think, or to pretend thinking, that they can learn the military art from present-day Germany as they could many years ago.

All this fraternizing is, of course, diplomatic. Germany wants an alliance or understanding with Japan as a defense against Communist Russia. Japan too has her reasons for wanting to keep Russia busy on both eastern and western fronts. What the fraternizing will do to German and Japanese relations with America and other countries is another question.

WANTING THE WEALTH

"Sharing the wealth" in a capitalist country is a euphemism. It's pleasant to talk about, for perhaps three-fourths of the people. Some practical revision, or redistribution, of our national wealth through taxation, wages and otherwise, could make things pleasanter for the lower income levels if wisely managed. It could promote "social fairness" and help pay off public debt. But there could not be an economic system like ours, anything approaching equal division of profit, savings and property. We can merely juggle the proportions of income and savings a little more than we are already doing through income and inheritance taxes, emergency relief bonds, payments to agriculture, minimum wages, unemployment insurance and old age insurance.

"It seems to me," says a New England business writer, "that those people who look for security within the money system (meaning the 'gold' or 'capitalist' system) are barking up a dead tree. If it's equality they want, regardless of the living standard, let them subscribe to an honest communism." There is no equality in capitalism. And our people, no matter how many of them may imagine they would like an equal division of wealth, are still capitalists at heart, hoping to get more than the average.

MEN'S RIGHTS

Masculine attention is invited to a resolution adopted by the National Women's Party in its convention at Atlantic City. It advocates equal rights before the law for men and women, equal pay for equal work, equal domicile, property and guardianship rights, and—"equal alimony in cases of divorce and equal consideration for men in cases of breach of promise."

This is equality in a sense that the early suffragettes never dreamed of. It is doubtless good strategy. For the sake of rights they want particularly, the women are willing to waive some rights they have always possessed by law or custom. They claim no more special privileges for their sex. This attitude will probably win a good deal of masculine support. A lot of men will feel like joining the Women's Party.

PERSPIRING FEET

One of the embarrassing conditions which occurs in many individuals is feet that perspire freely, and often accompanied by a disagreeable odor. Apparently cleanliness or lack of cleanliness makes no difference in controlling the condition.

As the warm weather appears to increase the trouble it may be worth while to learn the suggestions offered by the Journal of the American Medical Association.

1. Bathe the feet daily for about 10 minutes in any of the following solutions: (a) compound solution of cresol, three teaspoonfuls to one gallon of warm water; (b) alum, one teaspoonful to a pint of water.

2. Use one of the following antiseptic dusting foot powders twice daily: (a) from 1 to 2 per cent salicylic acid in powdered boric acid or (b) from 1 to 2 per cent salicylic acid in equal parts of zinc oxide and talcum. These powders may also be used without the salicylic acid.

3. Have the shoes large and loose to increase ventilation. Alternate the shoes daily airing the used ones.

4. Change the socks daily.

5. The use of X-ray treatments is the best and most satisfactory remedy in obstinate cases.

I have spoken before of the treatment used successfully in a great many cases by Dr. Althoff, Berlin.

"The feet should be first thoroughly washed with warm water, rinsed and dried. Then the soles and the skin between the toes are painted with equal parts of 35 per cent formaldehyde (the commercial formaldehyde purchased in drug or other stores) and distilled water. The solution should dry before the foot is covered. This treatment should be repeated three days in succession.

The effect is prompt and lasts for four to six weeks when the application should be repeated." The sweating and odor are often permanently cured.

While the cause is unknown some patients and physicians believe that it is due to certain foods; that is that while some individuals are sensitive to certain foods, have head colds, others have this catarrhal or sweating condition of the feet.

In the meantime the suggestions made by the Journal of the American Medical Association and by Dr. Althoff should be followed.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1483-B and 1581-B

Two Smart Frocks for the Older Woman

No. 1483-B—The trim dress at the left of the illustration pretends to have an Elton jacket, but in reality it is just a one-piece frock, with the blouse cuff away to reveal a smart vestee. Link buttons hold the blouse together at a strategic point, and wide lapels are of the same material as the vest. The skirt has a panel in front and back, the front one just meeting the cut away portion of the blouse. The pockets are big, roomy things, which you may use, or not, as you like.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1483-B is designed in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48. Size 36 requires 3 1/4 yards of 36-inch material, and 1/2 yard of contrasting material. This pattern may be procured for 10 cents.

No. 1581-B—Soft Frock with Cape Sleeves for Hot Afternoons. The woman who has attained the dignity of years may wear the dress illustrated quite perfectly. The soft lines are becoming, the V-neck, and big bow edged with pleating very flattering to the woman who doesn't want to look like her daughter, even if she could. Pleating is very popular this season, and here it is used on the cape sleeves, which are cool, as well as no end pretty for light Summer dresses.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1581-B is designed in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52 and 54. Size 36 requires 2 1/4 yards of 33-inch material. For the pleating 1/2 yard of material is required, or if you use bought ruffling 3 1/2 yards is necessary.

This pattern may be procured for 15 cents.

Tomorrow: One-piece dress with gored skirt and puffed sleeves.

MARY PICKFORD BRAVES WOMAN-PRODUCER JINX

Hollywood, Calif., July 8 (AP)—Mary Pickford, in announcing she will head a motion picture production unit, is about to challenge a notorious Hollywood jinx.

Miss Pickford said yesterday she would head a unit in the United Artists' system, producing at least two films. This move came as a result of the readjustment following withdrawal of Joseph M. Schenck from the company.

Miss Pickford is not the first great star to try production but the 25-year history of the movies is marked with occasional skeletons of film companies organized by famous players—and more important by the personal fortunes of those players.

Clara Kimball Young and Charles

Ray are the foremost victims of this peculiar jinx.

Each, as a first-ranking star, amassed considerable wealth, and each then took the wealth and "sat in" at the intricate game of production, losing heavily. Even tragically.

Only one woman ever got away with it on a big scale.

She was Lois Weber, who headed her own studio in 1917, and for several years, thereafter. Miss Weber rode the crest of the wave of interest in "eternal triangle" situations, and "domestic problem" pictures, current in the day. The movie colony says she rode it to a sizable fortune.

Bicycles manufactured in Canada during 1934 numbered 32,674, worth $651,620 at factory prices. There were 40,000 sold during the year, which included about 7,400 imports.

Style No. 2600 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42-inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/4 yards of 39-inch material.

ONE SECRET OF POPULARITYMAKE YOUR SPEECH A SOCIAL ASSET

"Aw, quit yer kiddin," giggles our little blonde over the telephone. Perhaps she thinks she's being cute. But look at the impression she's making on the squirming young man. He'd like to change places with the other fellow who is meeting with such charming response.

When an invitation is extended to the girl in the lower corner of our illustration, she says, "I'd simply love it," and the young man listening to her is delighted. You're right about that; it is her way of attracting him. She would not say, "And how?" She speaks distinctly. Her voice, you may be sure, is gentle, soft and low.

Nothing takes us farther socially than charm of conversation. A pleasant voice, an easy, graceful way of speaking, these are golden keys to popularity. . . . good times... lesson to business success.

When we talk in a starchy way we use slang that instead of being broadly expressive is stale or dead weight on conversation. . . . offend everyone within hearing, and actually limit our chances in life. Watch out for these dangerous pitfalls of modern conversation.

Variety Of Appetizers

(A tray of these tempting tidbits is bound to win favor with guests. Serve on lawn, porch or in living room with cocktails, hot or chilled beverages.)

Appetizers For 8

Cucumber Boats
2 thin cucumbers 2 tablespoons
2 cups green pepper
1/2 cup ham
1/2 cup chopped pickles
2 tablespoons
1/2 cup onions

Select cucumbers 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Peel and cut into 1 inch pieces. Scoop out centers to form little cases. Mix rest of ingredients and stuff cucumbers. Top with stars cut from pickles. Chill.

Crab Circles

20 one-inch toast circles 2 tablespoons chopped olives
1/2 cup crabmeat 1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup finely chopped onions 1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup finely chopped celery 1/4 teaspoon lemon juice
Arrange toast on platter. Spread with rest of ingredients and top with circles cut from olives.

Mayonnaise Puffs

24 round crackers 1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 egg white 1/2 teaspoon chili sauce
beaten 1/4 teaspoon salt
Arrange crackers on baking sheet. Spread with rest of ingredients combined. Brown 4 minutes in moderate oven. Serve warm.

Sardine Whirls

12 slices fresh bread 1/4 cup sardines
1/2 cup butter 1/2 cup chopped pickles
1/2 cup salad dressing 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Arrange bread slices on flat surface. Spread with rest of ingredients mixed together. Roll up each slice tightly and hold in place with waxed paper. Chill until serving time. Cut in 1/2 inch slices and toast. Serve warm.

Fair and Supper.

Ruby, July 8.—The Ladies' Aid of Mount Calvary Lutheran Church will hold their annual fair and supper in the church hall Saturday afternoon and evening, July 27.

Many of the new gowns for evening and summer's semi-formal occasions can be distinctly heard as back almost to the waistline, as well as seen, for they go avishly awning smartly in sheer taffeta on Bias cutting and a self-belt produces such fluffy, bewitching styles as the hips, while the very short draped model pictured above.

This gown, which is patterned armless, with the underarm left bare, after an original by Lucille Parry. The floor-length skirt is impressively full and wide with generously sized set-in godets that extend from the white for contrast at the front of the hem nearly to the hips. The hem of this graceful skirt trails the floor slightly at back.

Sunshades Match Gowns

London (P)—Sunshades that match summer gowns are also rain-proofed.

Keep after the weeds. A few licks now will finish them for the season.

Prepare for your fall salads by putting in endive seed.

Woman's Outstanding TreasureClear Complexion—Cheerful Disposition

A clear complexion and a cheerful disposition are a woman's outstanding treasures, always admired by everyone and is something to be really proud of. Only few women know the secret of this success and how to cultivate it. Yet, it is so simple and easy to have a natural clear complexion without extra cost.

Science has found that a clear natural complexion must come from within yourself. Your elimination must be kept regular and natural. That is why science has prepared and adopted a special formula for making HONEY-MEEL LOAF combined with such pure ingredients that will keep your elimination regular and natural. HONEY-MEEL LOAF is not a medicine. It contains no drug. HONEY-MEEL LOAF is a pure food. A combination of pure food ingredients such as Honey, Whole Wheat Meal and Bran. It is delicious to eat and beneficial to your system.

It is the regular and natural elimination of wastes from your system that makes complexions clear. Clear complexions also give cheerful dispositions. You owe it to yourself to give HONEY-MEEL LOAF a trial. Eat about 2 slices 3 times a day for a week or two. You will like its taste and flavor. Sold at all Independent Grocery Stores in a neat attractive window wrapper.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, July 8 (P)—Renewed strength of steels, industrial specialties, mail order and farm implement issues today added fuel to bullish stock market fires.

Equities generally, merely blinked at Washington happenings and the news, elsewhere, provided no distinctive clues to intermediate trends.

A brisk rally in wheat took place at Chicago, but cotton was unable to get ahead. Bonds were mixed, with some secondary loans a bit heavy. Foreign exchanges were quiet.

Steel shares started uncertainly, but soon found their stride. Gains of fractions to around 2 points were registered by U. S. Steel common and preferred, Acme Steel, National Steel, Republic, Crucible and Bethlehem.

Most of these reached new high ground for the year. Advances of fractions to 2 or so were also shown by Case, International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, Sears, Roebuck, Union Bag, J. C. Penney, American Can, American Tobacco "B" and Universal Leaf.

The rails were diffident, as were various utilities.

The general motors corporation brightened the business picture with the announcement that sales to consumers in the United States during June amounted to 137,752 units compared with 109,051 in May and 112,847 in June last year.

Most brokerage quarters report no let-up in the steady investment quest for income-producing securities.

Dugan Is Held For Grand Jury Action

Robert Dugan, the 17-year-old resident of 43 Newark avenue, who was arrested early Saturday morning for stealing an automobile, waived examination and was held for the grand jury by City Judge Bernard A. Culleton when he was arraigned in police court this morning. Bail was fixed at $500. Lacking this he went to jail.

Dugan was arrested by Patrolmen William Roedell and Wesley Kramer after a wild chase Saturday morning at about 4:20. The officers were patrolling in one of the radio cars and saw Dugan driving along Hurley avenue in the stolen car. They had been notified around midnight that the Ford, bearing a Jersey license, had been stolen.

The officers headed in the opposite direction to that of the stolen Ford, turned and gave chase, traveling more than 70 miles an hour. Dugan disregarded signals to stop. Both Patrolmen fired their pistols. The shot failed to halt Dugan. Then Roedel fired the riot gun, puncturing the right rear tire. This put the car out of control. It turned over twice, and was badly damaged. Dugan was taken from the tangled mass of metal by the officers, to the Kingston Hospital. Dr. John B. Krom treated him. His injuries were slight and he was sent to jail to await arraignment this morning.

Sergeant James V. Simpson questioned Dugan and procured statements concerning the theft of other automobiles by him and other youths, it is said. Dugan has a police record, he having been implicated in several burglaries for which he served time at the Rochester reformatory.

Cases Today in Local Police Court

Because they parked their cars in the center of Field Court Sunday evening for two hours while they attended the show at the Broadway Theatre, six motorists paid $1 fines in city court this morning.

They were James H. Forster, 169 Hurley avenue, Howard F. Greiner of Ulster Park, Raymond Davis of Krumville, Kenneth Carson of Richmond Park, George Dillich of Ulster Park, Joseph Lurie of Chambers street.

It pays to keep abreast of the times through the news and to heed signs said Judge Bernard A. Culleton as he fined the parkers.

John Steffen of Newark, arrested for the same offense, forfeited $10 bail not appearing.

The parking arrests were made by patrolmen in the radio car. Officers Ernest Boss, Walter Fitzgerald, Frank Sammons and Harry Martin, William Zwick of 42 Abeel street, arrested for not having his certificate of registration, had his hearing adjourned until Tuesday.

Louis Levine of St. Mary's street, arrested by Patrolman John Harnes, Sunday night for passing a stop sign at Union street and Broadway, paid a fine of $2.

Edward Norton of Sycamore street, arrested for third degree assault by Walter Waldzak, was discharged when the complainant failed to appear to press the charge.

THE JOINERS

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

On Friday evening, June 28, at 1:00 P. M. Hall at Rosendale, P. D. P. Mabel Bode and her efficient staff instituted a Rebekah Lodge with 13 charter members. Following the institution the beautiful Rebekah degree was conferred on a class of candidates by the efficient degree team of Colonial Lodge, under the supervision of Degree Mistress E. J. Cole. The following officers were then elected: N. G. Bertha Grunette; V. G. Louise Hiltibrant; R. S. Nettie Rowe; F. S. Eva VanNessell; treasurer, Rose Hasbrouck. P. D. P. Mabel Bode presented the gavel to the newly appointed D. D. P. Lena Dirk of Highland, who with her staff installed the officers of Minnetonka Rebekah Lodge, No. 320, in a splendid manner. At the close of installation the N. G. Sister Granette, called on the following Sisters and Brothers for short addresses: D. D. P. Lena Dirk, P. D. P. Mabel Bode, D. G. M. Bro. Charles Sickler, D. G. Patriarch Bro. N. Bode, D. Mars. C. Thompson, P. D. P. E. J. Cole, P. D. P. D. P. E. Gruner, P. D. M. E. Jones and several others. D. D. P. Mabel Yagel of Highland Falls also gave a few remarks. Sisters and Brothers were present from Kingston, Highland, Marlborough, Highland Falls, Newburgh and several other cities. About 125 were in attendance. At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by members of Minnetonka Lodge.

No trace of John Mayer.

New Rochelle, N. Y., July 8 (P)—Dragging operations off Glen Island have broken up the trace of John Mayer, 23, of 311 West 112th street, New York city, who disappeared while at the county beach yesterday, park commission police reported today. Mayer was at Glen Island with his parents and was wearing street clothes over a bathing suit. An elderly man whose name was not learned said he saw the youth dive from the breakwater and did not see him come up again.

Fraud Alleged Frauds.

New York, July 8 (P)—A congressional committee chartered by Representative Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois began investigating at the court house here today into alleged frauds which bondholders in real estate have suffered at the hands of protective committees in real estate reorganizations. Sabath said 41 companies here are under investigation.

"Soaking the rich" is a policy never adopted until a majority of the people have lost hope of getting rich themselves.

Disastrous Flood In Woodstock

done the worse for their thrilling night.

Mrs. Wolstenholme said that when the car was swept away by the flood all were thrown out and apparently were submerged in the swift water. How she managed to secure the children and aid Mrs. Cooper she was at a loss to tell.

Mr. Cooper is employed as a commercial artist by the Fawn Arts Studio, Inc., in New York city, and was not at home at the time.

Shout For Help.

Once in the small tree which is scarcely more than six inches in diameter, the marooned people shouted for help. Only a few feet away was the house of Mrs. Douglas Shultz along the small brook, which in normal times is almost dry, and which is spanned by the wooden bridge where the Packard of Mrs. Cooper came to grief.

About the Shultz home was a millrace. The small stream had risen so rapidly that it was impossible to get household articles out and this morning Mrs. Shultz said that in 35 years residence in the locality she never had seen such high water. The water came up very rapidly. About 9:30 o'clock water was running over the roadway at the iron bridge across the Sawkill and between then and perhaps 11 o'clock the water rose another ten feet to flood the first floor of the Shultz home which stands high above the back road on the west side of the Sawkill. Some 100 cans of preserves in the cellar of the home were damaged and this was one of Mrs. Shultz's deep concerns today as she viewed the wreckage.

The cries of the people marooned in the tree were heard above the roar of the stream and word was sent to the Woodstock fire department for men and machines to rescue the people. However the water was so high that it was impossible to cross the iron bridge which connects the West Hurley road and the Woodstock-Saugerties road and the bridge was out on the back road on the west of the Sawkill. Word was then sent to Kingston and Chief Murphy of the fire department sent out the aerial ladder. However by the time word was sent in the stream had dropped so rapidly that men in the neighborhood were able to reach the stranded women folks and children and bring them to safety.

Among those who donned bathing suits and formed a human chain were Robert Hall, manager of the Broadway Theatre, Frank Bradley and Larry Goetz of Woodstock and others whose modesty prevented securing their names.

The rescuers waded through the backwash from the main Sawkill stream and into the rapid current of the small brook and aided the women and children to safety.

The property of Major General W. D. McCaw near the Cooper place appeared to suffer less damage although the water reached the property.

Number of Bridges Out

Ed Hillier and Lou Doherty were two other surprised young men. They drove their Ford roadster up the road about 10:50 o'clock and left it at their place and the next time they saw their car it was down in the gully alongside the bridge which had been washed from its foundation and wedged in against the Cooper car.

Apparently after parking their Ford it was picked up by the water at their home near the Cooper place and washed down the stream. It was the Ford car caught on the bridge which held the Packard touring car of Mrs. Cooper from being washed down into the main stream.

A car of Clarkson Reynolds of Woodstock was reported carried away by the flood. The car was later reported a long distance down stream near the 18th hole of the Woodstock Golf Club.

It is impossible to drive a car from Woodstock to Bearsville on the main route as fills at bridge entrances have been washed away. At the height of the flood it was impossible to stand up on the main street of Woodstock by Firemen's Hall because of the rapid current of the flood waters.

One man stated he had attempted to negotiate the water with hip boots but found it impossible to do so.

The iron bridge over the lower Tannery creek is out.

Roadway Washed Out.

A Freeman reporter drove over the Byrdcliffe road to Shady where the new bridge is being constructed across the Sawkill at the Simpkins place but was unable to get beyond as the bridge there is gone. In order to get to Bearsville it was necessary to take the mountain road along the bank above the Sawkill valley from Shady to Bearsville. The old iron bridge at Bearsville went out and lies down stream somewhere, no one knew where. The new bridge which is open to traffic stood the water although the abutment fills were somewhat damaged.

From Bearsville it was possible to drive up the Shady road for a distance to the iron bridge where the Sawkill crosses the road from the west to the east side of the road. A few feet beyond the bridge the roadway was washed out for a long distance where the creek cut through the road fill. High trees washed down by the swift current are piled high on the place where once the roadway was. The debris on the roadway at this point indicated severe damage higher up in the Shady valley.

At Shady two cars were washed down the creek. The cars were owned by George Lay and Alice Houst.

Several Narrow Escapes

Supervisor Cashdollar, who was on the jump all night, reported that there had been several narrow escapes but no loss of life. Fifteen people who had been occupying bungalows on the east side of the Sawkill creek above Bearsville had been in danger.

He and others had effected a rescue by carrying the people up the steep bank and gaining shelter in the Agnes Simmons boarding house.

At Shady Ralph Johnson's place was flooded and rescuers were able to take Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and three children from the house by means of ropes when the water rose about the first story of the house which stands near the Sawkill.

"Buzz" Fitzsimmons, bus driver, was reported as being one of the heroes in the rescues about Shady.

Although Mrs. Wolstenholme's first concern this morning was the health of Mrs. Cooper and the children who were still at the hospital, she still was anxious to learn what had happened to her own personal belongings. When she and Mrs. Cooper placed the children in the car shortly before midnight to gain a place of safety Mrs. Wolstenholme packed her own valuable belongings in a brown valise and placed that in the car.

When the car was caught in the swirl of the current the valise was washed away. In the bag which was of brown leather was a bank book and $17 of Mrs. Wolstenholme, her blue dressing jacket, night clothing, a Metropolitan Insurance policy made out to her husband, personal belongings and clothing which she had hastily packed to take out for the night. Anyone recovering this bag downstream would do the owner deep favor in returning it.

Streams Running High.

Although the rain had ceased shortly before mid-night, streams were still running high this morning.

A. H. Lipgar, of the Lipgar Studio on Fair street, visited the scene with a Freeman reporter this morning and made a number of photographs of the wrecked bridges and general debris which was found along the streams and in the village of Woodstock.

As soon as word was sent out of the flood sightseers began to flock into the stricken area to get a close-up of the damage.

The damage up through Shandaken, which was visited by a very severe flood a couple of years ago, seemed to be less severe. At Phoenicia it was reported that the Esopus creek up the valley apparently had not suffered so severe a rainfall, although up Woodland Valley the Kepler bridge, a small bridge, was reported out. There were a number of slides between Phoenicia and Mt. Tremper of minor proportion and another slide over the road at the old "Dugway" above Phoenicia. The most severe flood condition apparently came down the Chichester stream and at the height of the water this stream came within 10 inches of flooding the main street of Phoenicia village.

A bridge on the Zena road was reported out near the junction of the Woodstock-Saugerties road.

A large portion of the roadway at the bridge on the West Hurley-Woodstock road by the Woodstock Golf Club was washed away by the water which flowed over the roadway for a time but the approach road and one way traffic was maintained over the bridge today. At the height of the storm a number of cars were held up on each side of the bridge while the water completely submerged the bridge and roadway. It ran off quickly after the rain ceased.

The Sawkill was today a badly swollen stream and the Esopus creek below the Ashokan reservoir came up to a high level, flooding the lowlands across the Higgsville bridge, across the creek with red muddy water.

A large rock slide at Glenorie closed route 9-W and traffic today was being detoured over the Mt. Marion road during the morning while the slide was being cleared.

At Camp Wakonda at Mt. Marion was reported that during an attempt to make fast canoes at the camp a couple of the youths had been dumped into the swift water of the creek when a canoe upset in the current.

The spillway at the Ashokan reservoir was flowing full this morning, presenting a very pretty sight. The lower basin had been full for some time but the overflow had practically ceased until the rain of Sunday.

Woodland Valley Damaged.

Woodland Valley, just above Phoenicia, was again ravaged by the turbulent waters which swept down from the Slide-Wittenberg mountain section. At Roxmon Inn was a new swimming pool which was completed only recently by the Roxmon colony, was carried away and the Woodland post office, the property of Mrs. W. Dean Hays, and managed by E. B. Miller, was so inundated that Mr. Miller was obliged to move out during the night.

Work on the post office, which had been under way since last March was completed Saturday and due to Sunday's flood the back porches and foundation were wrecked totally. Further up the valley the road in several places was washed out and many of the fine bungalows along the creek were almost entirely covered with water.

Bonesteele Farm Suffers

In Wittenberg the farm owned by Luther Bonesteele suffered tragically. The farm is situated at the foot of Tonche mountain near Yankeetown pond and is traversed by several water courses which normally carry off precipitation. Sunday's storm, however, seemed to concentrate in the Woodstock area and within very few hours after the downpour commenced the Bonesteele land was inundated, the chickencoops and pig sty were carried off and thriving crops were swept along in the flood. This morning the farm land resembled an old creek bed. All top soil for the most part is gone and only a swath of boulders, perhaps two hundred yards wide and several hundred yards in length remain. The top soil is distributed irrevitably in marsh lands adjoining the pond. The road which passes the Bonesteele property, leading from Wittenberg to Glenford on the Astorian Boulevard, also suffered. Heaps of gravel and rubble are piled in the center of the road and a small bridge was swept out. This morning Mr. Bonesteele, unable to do anything immediately to repair his losses, assisted passing drivers over the washed out section of the road.

At Shady Ralph Johnson's place was flooded and rescuers were able to take Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and three children from the house by means of ropes when the water rose about the first story of the house which stands near the Sawkill.

Although Mrs. Wolstenholme's first concern this morning was the health of Mrs. Cooper and the children who were still at the hospital, she still was anxious to learn what had happened to her own personal belongings. When she and Mrs. Cooper placed the children in the car shortly before midnight to gain a place of safety Mrs. Wolstenholme packed her own valuable belongings in a brown valise and placed that in the car.

When the car was caught in the swirl of the current the valise was washed away. In the bag which was of brown leather was a bank book and $17 of Mrs. Wolstenholme, her blue dressing jacket, night clothing, a Metropolitan Insurance policy made out to her husband, personal belongings and clothing which she had hastily packed to take out for the night. lands to a depth of several feet in some places.

Highways in this area reported under water included the Lake George-Bolton, the Granville-Hartford state highway and the Glens Falls-Ganenvoor road.

In most sections the rain stopped shortly after midnight but additional showers were forecast for today.

Rescue Family of Four

Utilizing a rowboat, firemen rescued a family of four from a Hornell home in which water was a foot deep on the first floor.

Several streets in the Hornell business section were under two to four feet of water, the result of rain which started at midnight and continued for seven hours.

The Conchocton river overflowed its banks at Bath in southern New York early today after a 12-hour rainfall, flooding the grounds of the Veterans Home, and forcing 15 families to flee their homes.

Two passenger trains of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad were halted near the Veterans Home by a track washout, and the Bath, Hammondsport Railroad canceled trains because of a threatened washout near Cold Spring.

The village was without gas service after 2 p.m., when pipes were washed out.

$1,500,000 Damage.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—More than $1,500,000 damage had resulted in central and southern New York today, based on newspaper estimates, in record rainfalls followed by floods.

Ithaca and surrounding area alone reported a flat million dollar loss.

Cortland estimated half a million more.

Traffic on the Syracuse-Binghamton Division of the D. L. & W. Railroad between Cortland and Binghamton, and between Cortland and Cincinnatus, was suspended, with the chances that it would not be resumed until late tomorrow at the earliest. At many points on the branches, there were washouts, or the tracks were under swirling brown waters. The most serious conditions were at Messengersville, Marathon, Whitney Point and Ithaca.

Bus travel between Cortland and New York, on the Rochester, Syracuse, Binghamton and Cortland route, was halted here, by warnings that the heavy vehicles could not get through.

At Otselic, the storm was in the nature of a cloudburst.

Highway bridges were reported washed away at Whitney Point, Willet and Cincinnati.

At McGraw, water poured through the ground floor of the Vesta Corset Company plant.

Forty automobiles were blocked by angry waters near Willet, last night.

Flood waters tore out road culverts and caused more than a dozen landslides that blocked the main Cortland-Binghamton highway.

At Marathon the William Erlestone grocery store, the home of Dr. H. F. McGovern, and the Seaman garage and filling station, were washed into the Tioughnioga river.

At Ithaca, George S. Tarbell, an attorney, dropped dead of exertion after an attempt to save some of his possessions in a summer cottage. The rains in this area began yesterday afternoon and came down intermittently all night.

The Cayuga inlet section for miles south of Ithaca flooded lowlands and gave the appearance of a great lake. The hangar at the new municipal airport at Cayuga Lake was entirely surrounded by the flood.

Cellars throughout the downtown section were filled by water.

The new Taughannock boulevard on the west shore of Cayuga Lake was washed out in many places, in some instances leaving yawning holes 30 feet deep. County and city officials were rushed in handling calls for assistance.

Norwich reported Chenango county, with a precipitation of 8.17 inches of precipitation between 7 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. today, as having received its heaviest rainfall in 10 years. The rain between 7 a.m. Sunday night and 8 a.m. today was measured at 5.17 inches.

MOST OF U. S. A. RELIEVED BUT DEATHS ARE COUNTED

(By The Associated Press)

Cooling winds and rainfall left most of the country relieved today of high temperatures which brought death and suffering. Most of nearly two score fatalities attributed to the weather were directly due to drowning. Illinois alone recording six. In the wake of high temperatures, some sections found high waters a new menace as rain swelled rivers, particularly in upper New York state and western Illinois. The Southwest remained in the grip of the heat wave while the thermometer dropped more than 20 degrees in some sections.

Retailers, who reported a sharp increase in sale of summer merchandise, and farmers, watching crops spring up, welcomed the brief spell. Detroit watched the thermometer reading fall from the 90s to the 60s, while Chicago was relieved with a 21 degree drop.

Mengenbach's Opinion

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The opinion that wealth distribution taxes could be levied to raise $113,000,000 to $391,340,000 annually was expressed to the House ways and means committee today by Secretary Mengenbach. While he was testifying, the White House emphasized that the administration was making no specific recommendation on tax rates and that Mengenbach was simply presenting estimates based on schedules suggested by committee members. A plan introduced was given at the White House that President Roosevelt expected the new tax bill to be confined to the three points he suggested to Congress—points on high incomes and a graduated corporate tax to replace the present flat rate.

John D. Observes
A Quiet Birthday

Lakewood, N. J., July 8 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., was four more and sixteen today and enjoying the best health in years.

Routine in "Golf House" with its servants remained unchanged, with any birthday observance barred. The nonagenarian's son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., spent the day with him.

"He hasn't felt better in many years," the son said.

His dentist, Dr. Max Goldstein, reported that the annual examination showed his 19 natural teeth still sound with no need for fillings, drillings or extractions.

The birthday marked the 80th year since the start of the business career that carried Mr. Rockefeller from the possession of nothing to the possession of estimated billions. The actual size of his fortune has never been revealed.

At 16 he started work as an assistant bookkeeper in a produce commission warehouse in Cleveland $50 a month.

At 26 he is long retired from business activity and has behind him the amassing of what many believe to be the greatest riches ever controlled by an individual, and the philanthropic disposal of a half billion dollars.

4 MILLION UNEMPLOYABLES ON FEDERAL RELIEF ROLLS.

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Acknowledging that little progress has been made in actually transferring "unemployables" from federal relief to the care of the states, relief officials said today that about 4,000,000 such persons still are on the rolls.

This number, which is about one-fifth of the persons depending in whole or part on federal relief activities for support, is roughly the same as it was last December.

At that time Harry L. Hopkins, now works progress administrator, enunciated a policy that all persons physically or mentally incapable of work, must be returned to the care of the states by last February 1.

Later Hopkins modified his requirement. Funds for unemployed would be loaned states and cities unable to take over responsibility, he said. Later he abandoned the attempt for the time and officials said they expected the administration's security program to provide for most of the dependent children and aged.

The measure, however, still is in a congressional conference and it is expected that a year or more will be required to place it in operation.

Officials said Hopkins now plans to supply most of the food and clothing required by the unemployables even after they are returned to the care of local governments.

There is little prospect of their being to be a federal burden until after the work relief program peak is reached around November 1, it was indicated.

Then the twin moves—providing jobs for those able to work, and transferring the others to local care—will carry out President Roosevelt's desire to "end this business of relief," officials said.

Troops Concentrated

Rome, July 8 (AP)—Italy increased her concentration of troops for action in East Africa as some observers predicted warfare might start between Italy and Ethiopia even before the rainy season ends in September.

It looks from here as if the entire District of Columbia needs to be weather-conditioned.

Nationals Look Stronger As All Star Teams Meet In Cleveland; 85,000 Expected To Jam Stadium

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

Cleveland, July 8 (AP).—By land, lake and air, an army of baseball fans descended upon Cleveland today from all parts of the country to witness the third annual parade of the major league all-stars.

Barring a bad turn of weather and subject to last-minute switches in the lineups for the big show, a capacity crowd of 85,000 was expected to jam the Cleveland Stadium, biggest ball park in the United States, to see at least two million dollars' worth of the game's choicest talent perform in person.

Definite developments over-night assured the appearance of "Prince Hal" Schumacher, ace right-hander of the league-leading New York Nationals, and Mel Harder, righthanded ace of the Cleveland Indians, in the pitching roles when the curtain rolls up for the record-breaking spectacle.

By a process of elimination including the use of Carl Hubbell of the Giants and Dizzy Dean of the champion Cardinals in yesterday's regular-season games, Schumacher was nominated to make his all-star debut and pitch as long as he can keep the Americans under control. The exponent of the "sinker ball" was one of the big reasons why the Nationals ruled 6 to 5 favorites to turn the tables and take their first all-star decision.

Harder, pitching hero of last year's all-star victory for the Americans, was definitely named last night for the starting assignment of Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Detroit Tigers and field boss of the junior league's forces. Not only that, but Cochrane said Harder would stick as long as he was needed on the firing line. For relief sharpshooting, Cochrane has Lefty Gomez of the Yankees, his old sidekick, Lefty Grove of the Red Sox, as well as two Tiger right-handers, Tommy Bridges and Schoolboy Rowe.

Conspicuously missing from the field of action this year were the hitting heroes of the two previous American League triumphs, Babe Ruth and Earl Averill. Ruth, whose home run provided the winning margin in 1933, was due to scan the proceedings from the press box. Averill is on the shelf with hand injuries caused by a firecracker. The Americans appeared further handicapped by the absence of their new home run king, big Hank Greenberg of the Tigers. By some curious reasoning, Greenberg was not even named on the 20-man squad, thereby putting it strictly up to Lou Gehrig of the Yankees to stage a come-back.

The lineup of the Nationals not only shaped up as considerably stronger than last year but looked to have a marked edge over the Americans in offensive strength. Such slingers as Mel Ott of the Giants, Arky Vaughan of the Pirates, now leading both leagues at bat, and Pepper Martin of the Cardinals were not in last year's starting lineup. To help offset these gains in rival power, the Americans planned to counter by assigning three slugging newcomers, Indian Bob Johnson and Roger Cramer of the Athletics and Joe Vosmik of the Indians, to the outfield ramparts. Cramer was considered a likely replacement for the veteran Al Simmons of the White Sox, who has been in a hitting slump and on the bench for a week.

Probable starting lineups for today's all-star major league game:

National League—Martin, Cardinals, 3b; Vaughan, Pirates, ss; Ott, Giants, rf; Medwick, Cardinals, lf; Terry, Giants, 1b; Berger, Braves, cf; Frisch, Cardinals, 2b; Manasco, Giants, c; Schumacher, Giants, p. American League—Vosmik, Indians, rf; Cramer, Athletics, cf; Gehring, Tigers, 2b; Gehrig, Yankees, 1b; Foxx, Athletics, 3b; Johnson, Athletics, lf; Cochrane, Tigers, c; Cronin, Red Sox, ss; Harder, Indians, p. Umpires—Sears and MacCorkurth, National League; Ormsby and Geisel, American League.

National alternates: Collins (Cardinals), Herman (Cubs) and Whitehead (Cardinals), infielders; Waner (Pirates) and Joe Moore (Giants), outfields; Wilson (Phillies) and Hartnett (Cubs), catchers; J. Dean and Walker (Cardinals), Hubbell (Giants) and Derringer (Reds), pitchers.

American alternates: Myer and Blaue (Senators), infielders; Chapman (Yankees), Simmons (White Sox) and West (Browns), outfields; R. Ferrell (Red Sox) and Hemsley (Browns) catchers; Bridges and Rowe (Tigers), Gomez (Yankees) and Grove (Red Sox), pitchers.

Time of game—1:30 p. m. (eastern standard time).

Schmeling Wins in Unimpressive Style

Berlin, July 8 (AP).—Max Schmeling, the dark visaged slasher of Germany, has added Pauline Tzourou to his list of victims but has lost prestige in the eyes of Nazi followers.

The German battered the Spanish woodchopper around a Berlin ring for 12 rounds yesterday, bruised and cut his face but failed to knock him down.

Instead of crashing, as enthusiastic Nazis thought he would, Tzourou continually moved within the long arms of Schmeling and twisted his body with short rights and lefts. Several times he drove 12-year-old champion into the ropes.

Schmeling, who weighed 192½ as against 202 for his opponent, claimed he had been struck a low blow in the sixth round that injured his strength and decreased his effectiveness during the late rounds. The crowd of 65,000, including high Nazi officials, which had cheered him on, roared him only mild applause as he left the ring after his unimpressive victory.

Hercules to Meet Dairymen Wednesday In City League Contest

Hercules' Powdermen will have a chance to tie up the first half of the City League when they meet Jones' Dairymen at the Athletic Field, Wednesday evening. The Powdermen have two games remaining to be played and a win in either one will give them first half honors. The Crystal Beauty Shoppe is the only outfit left that can tie the Powdermen. If they should win their two remaining games and the Powdermen lose their two the two teams will end even.

In case the Powdermen are beaten Wednesday evening on Thursday the Beauty Shoppe will play Forst's' Forsters.

Two veterans of the game are expected to face each other on the hill in Wednesday's game. Eddie Scherer, who has led the Powdermen to the top, will be seen in action again with Al Short calling the signals. Jack Dodge and Dick Dulin will form the Dairymen's battery.

Cummings Finds Gain On Lawyer-Criminal

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8 (AP)—Attorney General Homer S. Cummings reported progress today in the government's drive against the type of criminal lawyer who has become a "lawyer-criminal."

Cummings addressed the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

"It is a satisfaction to be able to report that real progress is being made in the effort to rid the legal profession of its unscrupulous members," he said.

"There are some members of the bar, as I am well aware, who take the position that derelictions from professional ethics should not be made a subject of public discussion.

"As far as I am concerned, I do not for a moment believe in remaining silent when such outrageous conduct comes to notice. Because its members are supposed to be officers of the court, if not in protection of its own standing and prestige, the legal profession is under peculiar obligations to keep its own ranks as clean as the statutes and the powers of the various bar associations can render them."

Garden Party to Be Held Wednesday

The garden party of the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. will be held Wednesday evening and not on Thursday evening, as announced through an error. The affair will take place in the garden of Judge and Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler if weather permits, and otherwise at the Y. W. C. A. hall.

The guests will assemble at 6:30 p. m. at which time dessert will be served. Bridge will then be enjoyed until dark. Those not wishing to play are invited to come for refreshments and to enjoy the garden.

Those planning to attend are requested to make reservations with the general chairman, Miss Mary Howard, or with the ticket chairman, Miss Ruth Vandenburg, or at the Y. W. C. A. office.

Schooner Is Burned.

New York, July 8 (AP)—The schooner yacht Lorelei burned to the water's edge and sank early today while cruising off Eaton's Neck on the north shore of Long Island. The crew of six took to the small boat and were picked up by the picket boat of the coast guard station there, whose lookout sighted the flames. Information from the coast guard station indicated that the owner was Frank A. Calderone, of Westbury, L. I., and that he had been taken off with the crew. The Lorelei was a vessel of under thirty feet. The cause of the fire was not known.

BYRD WEATHER MEN FACE BITTER COLDTheirs Most Difficult Job With Expedition.

Hollywood.—Down at the bottom of the world, where the winds howl all winter long at a temperature of 70 degrees below zero, members of the second Byrd Antarctic expedition spent 18 long months.

And of all the difficult and dangerous jobs assigned to members of the crew, the balloon man's long vigil amid those icy blasts, headed the list.

Even the two cameramen who risked their lives to photograph exciting incidents agree that their job did not compare with that of the meteorologist.

The story of George Grininger, sent with the expedition by the weather bureau in Washington, was told by John L. Herrmann and Carl O. Peterson, who brought 130,000 feet of film back from Little America.

400 Balloons Released.

Day after day, Grininger mounted the snow covered roof of the science building and kept a telescope trained on balloons soaring into the atmosphere. More than 400 balloons were released by the meteorologist to determine wind velocity and direction at various altitudes.

The neat little pile of record books cost Grininger many a frost bitten cheek and finger. For hours at a time, exposed to the extreme cold, he kept his eye to the telescope. Because the lens must be adjusted constantly, he could wear only silk gloves. These kept his fingers from freezing to the frigid metal, but they weren't much protection from the cold.

Grininger relayed his readings through a telescope to fellow scientists in the warm building below. Readings were made once a minute until the balloon was lost from sight.

In daylight, their course could be followed up to 30,000 feet. During the long winter of endless night, little paper bugs containing lighted candles were attached.

Suffered From Frostbite.

Grininger wore a noseguard and other special equipment, but still he suffered continually from frostbite, the cameramen related. As a matter of fact, all of the 55 men under Admiral Richard Byrd, and the admiral himself, were frostbitten at one time or another.

Frequently the cameramen and others on trail trips would be caught in a blizzard, and parts of their bodies frozen before they could erect a shelter. Al Wade of North Hollywood suffered the most severe case. He was eighteen pounds lighter when released from the hospital.

Motion picture photography was difficult at any temperature below zero and almost impossible from 40 degrees down, the cameramen reported. Down to 40 degrees the film becomes brittle, and beyond that it continually breaks.

The camera itself freezes at low temperatures and the hand crank cannot be turned.

The photographers developed a technique of their own to defeat the weather. Placing their cameras in ovens, they would prepare a scene for photographing race for the cameras and grind them until they froze.

Once Herrmann clambered up a 73 foot steel radio tower for a bird's eye view of the camp. The scene over, he tried to descend but discovered his legs were frozen to a pair of steel supports. Another man climbed up and shook him loose.

Another time, on a tractor trip, he fell backward into a 12 foot crevasse, but escaped with bruises. The cameramen and four others were bound for the admiral's advance base to bring back supplies and equipment left by Byrd when he returned to Little America by plane.

When the papers have all been found and listed, the staff of the archivist will start the gigantic task of moving them into the new Greelan building on Pennsylvania avenue. First, however, they will be repaired, fumigated, restored and bound.

HURLET

Hurley, July 8—Supervisor Matthew T. E. DeWitt, who underwent a very serious operation at the Kingston Hospital a short time ago, is gaining nicely at his home.

Mrs. Chester C. Chilton left Friday for Northfield, Mass., where she will be a delegate for the convention.

Miss Henrietta Myer and Mrs. W. Scott Smith spent Wednesday with Mrs. Alfred Myer.

On July 16 the Ladies' Missionary Society will hold a supper in the church basement.

Mrs. George Smith, who has been a patient at the Kingston Hospital, has returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Watts before returning to her home here.

Ernest Myer is attending the summer session of the New Paltz Normal School.

Mr. Seiden has opened a new gas station on the corner of the property formerly owned by Sarah DeMond.

Rain doesn't seem to be distributed any more equitably than wealth, and we don't seem able to do much about either.

GREAT BRIDGES READY FOR DEDICATION

Governor Lehman (inset) and other dignitaries are expected to attend the dedication July 15 of two bridges connecting the United States mainland with Grand Island in the Niagara River. The cost of the two spans was $4,000,000, to be repaid in tolls. In the foreground is the South Bridge, connecting Tonawanda, N. Y., with the island, and in the background the bridge linking Niagara Falls, N. Y., with the island (Associated Press Photo).

Archivists Starting To Collect DocumentsPlea for Press Law Given to Governor

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Nine historian-detectives have started on the trail of 3,500,000 cubic feet of official documents which have piled up here since the government was rounded.

Their search will take them to shiny new buildings and old fire traps, to abandoned attics, cellar basements and even to the White House garage. They hope to find all the mass of letters, orders, rules, files and statistics which tell the official story of the United States of America.

When the search is ended, these memos of history will be collected for the first time in the new archives building, where students and writers will be able to study them.

About 150 buildings, scattered over the District of Columbia, hold the treasure which the nine detectives are seeking, Archivist R. D. W. Connor estimates.

Some of the documents will be torn, damp, decayed, bug-infested, gnawed by rats, but the archivist hopes to rescue them for future historians.

The sun's rays, the acids of city air and the heavy dampness of Washington weather—fatal to aging manuscripts—have attacked the documents. Pressed for space, government units have had to store their documents where they could. Some have been carefully saved in steel file cases, but others have been stored in wooden boxes, or merely tied with red tape.

When the papers have all been found and listed, the staff of the archivist will start the gigantic task of moving them into the new Greelan building on Pennsylvania avenue. First, however, they will be repaired, fumigated, restored and bound.

Directors of the zoo try to reproduce the natural habitat of the animals as closely as possible so that they may always be in fine health and spirits.

In line with this policy the zoo recently has been to some expense building an artificial mountain. It was a private mountain, especially for the use of a herd of rare goats.

Now, it has developed, the goats either don't care for mountain climbing or don't know how to go about it. At any rate, all they do is stand clustered together, looking sometimes silly and sometimes sad, and gaze at the unscalable heights.
